

opel cd70 navi eastern europe Don't you find it strange that google map of UK for 2011 cars is not the same as yours? I thought they used same software for map (optics) development as you do. But the map here for 2011 car doesn't show roads until around Gipsy Hill. UPDATED 10/2/2015 –

HOWEVER, this is still an exact copy of the original I had to download from BMW's website. This file is loaded in the car's DVD or navigator and is an exact replica of the UK 2011 map. Yup, it is loaded in the car, CD format (not DVD) as opposed to a dvd (it is a DVD. So it's no joke). It's the same as the one I sent you earlier. I will just link you to the website so you can see the map for yourself. (navi.bmw-group.com) It's everything you need and we all know you can't get NAVTEQ UK map anymore. And it's not half as bad as the VAG maps. So get this map and it will take all of a minute of your time. Instead of unzipping the file you need to import the folder called "DARTEC" from the file you have downloaded. Now, go to "Navigationsystem" on the main menu of your navigation system and insert the disc with the CD70 navigator (just like you would insert a new CD in your system). On your navigation system, navigate to the menu where you have "OPTIONS", on that menu navigate to

"Directions", "Directions Maps", "Directions Custom Map" and then the sub-menu "Navigation Maps" and then the sub-menu "Select". Find the file with "DARTEC" in the file name and press the big button "Select". Now press the big button "Add" and wait for the map to be ready. I just did it with my 2011 Audi A6 and I get this screen on the navigation system of the car: You can see on the picture that there is the map available for the navigation of the Audi A6 (2011). Just press the left arrow until the "Select" screen appears, then press the button "Add" and wait for the map to be ready. I don't think the BMW map of the UK is very accurate. You will see it just
