map is not being sorted.

self.realm.addNotificationBlock

```
{ [unowned self] in let sorted = self.realm.o

```
bjects(MyClass.self).sorted("myKey")

self.myList = sorted as! [[MyClass]] } I have a custom key that i use in my realm and I use this to sort the key. static func

myKey(cl: Class) -> String { return

```
cl.stringValue(forKey: "myKey") } A:

Realm has no support for sorting Map values yet. There is no set of built-in functions for it. However, it's not too hard to write one. First, you'd need to add a custom key-value observer on your Realm instance. This observer will be called whenever a Realm object is changed. Once you've added that observer, you can write an extension to the Realm class which adds sorting for the given Map.

import Foundation
import RealmSwift
public extension Realm { class func func makeKeyObserver(_ map: Map, closure:
